President's Report

On behalf of the Board of Directors of UTS Olympic I extend a warm welcome to players, supporters & directors of Marconi for today's top of the table clash.

I also extend a warm welcome & thanks to the Multicultural HIV/AIDS Education and Support Service who are holding a special celebrity match before the big game. UTS Olympic proudly supports initiatives in the area of community programs such as HIV/AIDS awareness programs and intends to hold similar events later in the season.

On behalf of the club I welcome back to Leichhardt Andy Harper, Eric Hristodolou, Brad Maloney & Manfred Schaefer all of whom have had previous associations with Olympic. I am sure that today's game will bring out the best in both sides and that the crowd will get behind this great game of soccer.

I am pleased to report that Derek Poimer is recovering from his injury and will be back training soon. In the meantime the club has secured Scott Baillie on loan from Macarthur Rams.

Good luck to both teams today.

Coach's Report

This evening we welcome Marconi to Leichhardt Oval for a top of the table clash. Manfred Schafer has probably got the biggest squad in the league available to him so we are sure to be facing a very imposing opponent tonight. Matthew Bingley, Francis Awaritefe, Domonic Longo, Jean Paul De Marugny and Mike Smith are just a few of the very talented players who will oppose us this evening.

Last week showed not only have we got lots of talented players at the club but we have a great team spirit with a never say die attitude. We are the first to admit Sydney Utd were the better side on the day and controlled more of the game than us. But we kept fighting until the final whistle and the point that we gained could be very valuable to us at the end of the season. There were a number of players who were down on the level of performance, I expect more from them and I'm sure they will rectify that this evening. It was great to see Kris Trajanovski scoring our goals and it was just reward for a very talented player. Those goals have taken Kris to equal top scorer in the league which is where he obviously wants to stay. It was a very emotion charged last 10 minutes and it was great to see our supporters still cheering on the players right until the final whistle and that kind of support is greatly appreciated by all the players.

Once again I hope we can give you plenty to shout and cheer about this evening.

— DAVID RATCLIFFE

When Kris scored his second goal in the dying minutes of the game against Sydney United last week, the crowd went wild. Kris has been a consistent scorer this season and is currently on top of the A League goal scorers ladder.

Born in Geelong, Victoria, Kris played his junior soccer at the Geelong Soccer Club and then moved to South Melbourne to play in the Youth League. At 16 he received a scholarship to AIS and then played with NSL Club Preston from 1990-1993.

Kris also spent some interesting months playing for Happy Valley in the Hong Kong Soccer League and in South China.

Kris says he chose to play for Olympic this season because it is one of the "glamour" clubs. So far he has enjoyed playing with the team and says they are all good mates and are committed to playing well under coach, David Ratcliffe. The pressure to stay in the team is immense with three strikers and four players to fill those positions. So far Kris has shown the form to keep his place.

"Straight Shooting"

With UNCLE STAVROS

It's only five minutes before the kick-off, but there's an underlying feeling that this will be a special day for UTS Olympic. From the moment the ground attendant hugged me when I entered the ground to the first taste of those superbly cooked souvlakia on the hill I was captivated.

UTS Olympic's moment of truth came in the recent game against South Melbourne. Brank Milosevic had packed his bags and left. I was Olympic's prisoner for 90 minutes.

You would not have sensed any problems off the field after watching Olympic tear apart South Melbourne. I don't think I've enjoyed a game as much as this. Maybe because it was the first National League match in over 12 years I had attended as a spectator.

What made it even more special was the fact that three generations of the Paschalidis family witnessed an outstanding performance. Well maybe, my four-year-old son didn't see much of the game, but I will remind him in years to come.

I also had the pleasure of sitting with Raul Blanco, the West Adelaide coach, who was totally enthralled. The first half was dynamite, the second was equally impressive.

"This is an unbelievable display!!" was all Blanco needed to say...

Just after the half-time break, I ventured up to the kiosk knowing only too well it wouldn't take too long to be served. You guessed it, I missed Olympic's second and third goals!!! (The souvlakia and kranski roll were nice!!!)

Nonetheless, David Ratcliffe and the team deserve special praise and I understand that the celebrations in the dressing room had to be seen to be believed.

Dave Ratcliffe singing — surely not!!!

Australia is fast becoming one of the best production lines in world soccer when it comes to goalkeepers.

John Filan and Mark Bosnich are regulars in the English Premier League while Frank Talia and Jason Kearton have come very close to first team selection.

Don't forget Zelko Kalac at Leicester although he did have a poor game recently in the League Cup...I'm sure the big man will bounce back.

But what about Mark Schwarzer, the former Marconi keeper and the man largely responsible for Australia playing Argentina for the final position at last year's World Cup.

His two saves in the penalty shoot-out against Canada were brilliant although Mehmet Durakovic's goal was just as crucial.

The good news is that Mark recently made his first team debut for Kaiserslautern, the club he joined after being the understudy last season at Dynamo Dresden.

I've waited a long time to break into the side and I'm just delighted to have played the last two games," Schwarzer said.

"We've only won twice in the first 14 rounds so I knew that the coach would consider me. We drew the two games that I have played, but I am happy with my form."

Kaiserslautern is 14th in the Bundesliga having won two games, drawn eight and lost four. Dortmund and Bayern Munich are locked on 31 points at the top — sic clear of Borussia Moenchengladbach.

Meantime, Durakovic, is still celebrating Selangor's 1-0 sudden-death time win over Pahang in the Malaysian Cup final. This game was played before a crowd of 83,000.

"I've played in some big Socceroo games, but I must admit, I haven't experienced anything like this," Durakovic said: "After Dave Mitchell scored the winner it took us an hour to get off the pitch."

Durakovic is still in Malaysia because the team is travelling around to every state showing off the Cup. There's now talk the amount of foreign players in Asia could be cut back to two.

Who will miss out at Selangor — Durakovic, Mitchell or Josip Biskic???

Anyway, I hope you enjoy the column and let's hope today's game is just as enthralling as the last two.

Whistle Stop

by PHIL HAFEY

This week I will briefly deal with stoppage time, a topic that created a great deal of publicity during the week following the UTS Olympic vs Sydney United fixture. Coincidentally, this weeks contribution had been written before this fixture, mainly as a result of comments made by Johnny Warren on SBS earlier in the week.

At the commencement of the Ericsson Cup competition, Soccer Australia's Instructions to Referees restated FIFA's objective of "Maximising Effective Playing Time".

The Laws of the Game state that:

The duration of the game shall be two equal periods of 45 minutes...subject to the following:

- (a) Allowance shall be made in either period for all time lost through substitution, the transport from the field of injured players, time-wasting or other cause, the amount of which shall be a matter for the discretion of the referee.
- (b) Time shall be extended to permit a penalty-kick being taken at or after the expiration of the normal period in either half.

In addition to the time lost through substitutions (up to six in the Ericsson Cup) and injuries, referees have been directed to add time lost through such causes as:

- cautions and send-offs
- referees speaking to players
- players 'discussing' decisions with the referee
- the organisation of defensive walls
- players celebrating goals
- ball over fence or a long way from players or ballboys
- delays in restarting the game through any other cause

It is not uncommon for five minutes or more to be added, particularly in the second half of a match when many substitutions take place. Spectators should be aware that in 45 minutes of football the ball is, on average, in actual play for less than 30 minutes and it is for this reason that referees have been directed to ensure that actual playing time is maximised.

In addition to adding time for the delays listed above, referees have also been directed to ensure that players do not unnecessarily delay the restart of play. One of the strategies referees use is to caution players who deliberately waste time. Such actions can include:

- preparing to take a throw-in or free-kick, but then leaving it for a colleague
- kicking or carrying the ball away after the referee has stopped play for any reason
- standing in front of or near the ball to delay the taking of a free-kick or to allow time for the defensive wall to be organised.
- failing to retire 10 yards at the taking of a free-kick
- excessively delaying the taking of a throw-in, free-kick, goal-kick or any other restart

Players who deliberately delay the game are playing contrary to the spirit and letter of the Law and will be dealt with accordingly. The directions given to referees are designed to provide spectators with the best value for money and to encourage attacking football.

Play it Safe Soccer Project

The HIV/AIDS virus does not discriminate between culture, language or nationality. Globally the virus has infected and affected people from all walks of life. To 30th September 1994, in Australia, there were 18,530 people known to be HIV positive and 5,324 who have AIDS, 3,826 have died. Presently, there is not known cure for AIDS nor is there a vaccine for HIV. The best defence against transmission is information, education and practising safer behaviours which are known to reduce risk considerably.

It is for this reason that the MHAS has developed the Play it Safe Project. The project utilise soccer to raise awareness of HIV/AIDS and has the support of Soccer Australia and Soccer NSW.

Part of the project involves a Celebrity Soccer Match which will take place each year as part of AIDS Awareness Week. This year the match takes place on Sunday 26th November 1995 prior to the Ericsson Cup game between UTS Olympic and Marconi-Fairfield. Another aspect of the program is to involve Soccer clubs in HIV/AIDS tournaments and other education.

A range of stickers and posters are being distributed and further developed to include UTS Olympic players.

Ned Zelic: UTS Olympic's Golden Boy

by TIM XIROS

UTS Olympic has had some big names on its books. Patikas, Raskopoulos, Kalantzis, Bernal to name a few. But undoubtedly, the biggest name to have played for the club is that of Soccerro Ned Zelic, now playing for Queens Park Rangers in the English Premier League. The rise of Ned Zelic is a sensational one and he truly is a role model for all junior soccer players in the country.

Ned Zelic started his illustrious career at the age of nine, playing for his local club, Canberra North. He then moved to NSW State League side Canberra Deakin, where Tom Sermanni was coach. Tom coached Ned for three years and greatly helped develop his game. His remarkable talent was then recognised at 18 by Ron Smith of the AIS, who took him under his wing and taught him all about the technical aspects of the game. Ned acknowledges Ron Smith and Tom Sermanni as big influences in his development, as well as Steve Darby, who back then was ACT state coach, and is now assistant coach and technical director at UTS Olympic.

Interest in Ned was soon shown by national coach Eddie Thomson and Ned was selected in the Australian Olympic Squad. Unsurprisingly, interested national league clubs were soon banging on his door wanting to secure his services. He eventually decided to move to Sydney and join Sydney United. His time at the club was very frustrating and after a falling out with the coach, the club decided to release him. A bad decision this later proved to be.

After some very impressive Olyroo performances, Ned's dream to represent the Socceroos was eventually realised on February 6, 1991, in a friendly against Czechoslovakia at Parramatta Stadium. He came on as a substitute at right full-back but was rather hesitant and failed to show his true ability. Coach Eddie Thomson though had faith in the 19 year old and picked him in the starting line-up for the prestigious international against England in June. Ned replaced injured sweeper Milan Ivanovic and completely rose to the occasion. Even though Australia lost 1-0 to an own goal, Ned's performance was brilliant and he completely upstaged Gary Lineker.

Upon arrival from the Olympic qualifiers, he was quickly snapped up by UTS Olympic for a record transfer fee of $50,000. A prominent figure in his move to the club was his former mentor Tom Sermanni, who was then assistant coach at UTS Olympic.

Ned then went on to play for the Olyroos in the Olympic qualifying matches against Holland. Having drawn the first game 1-1 at the Sydney Football Stadium, the pressure was on to win the return game in Holland. The score was 2-1 and time was quickly running out. As captain of the team, Ned took on the responsibility to try and score the equaliser. A 2-2 score line would result in qualification. He dribbled the ball forward, beat several players, and had the intention to cross the ball to the centre. But at the last second, with his superb vision saw the goalkeeper come off his line and he fired a shot to score one of the most memorable goals in Australian soccer history. This goal was enough to take Australia to the Barcelona Olympics and Ned instantly became a national sporting hero.

Talent scouts from all over Europe were soon hunting Ned for his signature. After weighing up his options, he decided to join leading Bundesliga team, Borussia Dortmund on a very lucrative deal.

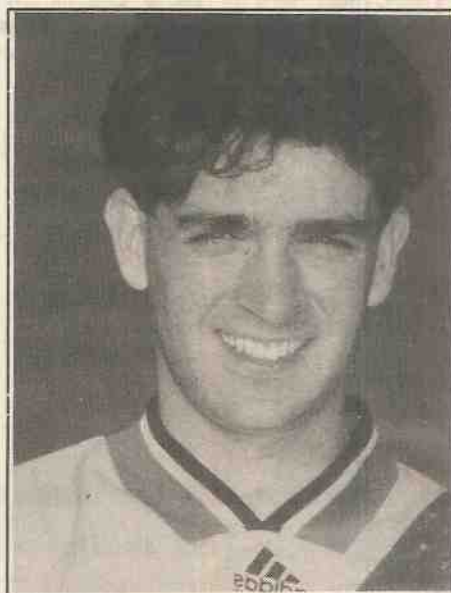

The Olyroos then went on to Barcelona and finished a very credible 4th in the tournament. This Olyroo side also featured former UTS Olympic players Steve Refenes, David Seal and Zlako Arambasic. All now currently playing in Europe. Current UTS Olympic international Milan Blagojevic was also a member of the squad. After the Olympics, Ned also became the only soccer player to ever win the Yardley Sportsman of the Year award.

At Borussia Dortmund, Ned had the opportunity to play alongside distinguished internationals such as German Andreas Moller and Brazilian Julio Cesar. The highlight of his time at the club was to play in the second leg of the 1993 UEFA Club Final against Italian powerhouse, Juventus. In front of 75,000 spectators at the Turin Stadium, he was given the task of marking the brilliant, Robertio Baggio. It was a game the team lost, but a great learning experience and personal achievement for Ned.

While playing in Germany, Ned never turned his back at playing for his beloved country, and was a vital member in the Australian squad for the last World Cup campaign. Unfortunately, Australia failed to qualify for USA 94 but Ned is looking forward to playing in the 1998 World Cup campaign with much anticipation.

This year after three seasons at Borussia Dortmund, Ned decided to leave after realising how difficult it was to gain a permanent position in the first team with all their foreign players. Ray Wilkins offered him a contract at Queens Park Rangers and Ned jumped at the opportunity to play in the English Premier League. A life-long dream of his accomplished. Once fully recovered from his knee injury Ned will certainly prove to be a great asset to the Loftus Road club. His value already shown a few times this season.

UTS Olympic thanks Ned Zelic for everything that he has done for the club and wishes him the best of luck in his career. He deservedly is an ambassador to Australian soccer and his ambition to one day captain the Socceroos will hopefully soon be realised.

Bringing UTS Olympic and Australian Soccer to the airwaves - a Profile of 2 NBC's Helen Meyer

It's Thursday night and the weekly game is only a matter of days away. By 9.30pm your favourite shows have finished on television and you look ahead to the weekends' game wondering about the players, the opposition and the year to date. Time to tune into 'The Meyer Stand' on 2 NBC 90.1 FM for an hour of uninterrupted news, coverage and analysis of the week in soccer. Each programme also features a new piece of soccer jargon and a technical term for the learning.

Helen Meyer, a self-confessed sports addict since being born into a sports crazy family some 39 years ago. At 15 Helen who has described herself as a "wog Polish girl" of the 1960s started to become a serious Australian girl. As a Melbourne woman of the 1980s Helen began producing radio shows at the local community station in St Kilda. Returning to Sydney she began a radio career at 2JJ and her career in sports broadcasting began in earnest.

She cites her sporting highlight as the night she got a St Kilda jumper mounted above the crest of the flagship of the Australian navy, HMAS Sydney in 1987: An officer of the Navy had bet her on the airwaves that the Saints could not win four in a row. They did and the navy came good with their bet. This plays a close second to Tony Lockett (St Kilda and now Swans champion AFL full forward) co-hosting her radio show at 2 NBC recently.

The show is a great mix of the entertaining and informative. Already David Barrett has explained how a soccer ball is made and the special skills of heading a ball, Kimon Taliadoros has explained his role as a Players Association official, Lydia Dowse has given publicity to pre-match promotions and Peter Tsekenis has revealed what the phrase "nutmeg" means on the football field.

Her aim is to promote not only UTS Olympic but to encourage followers of soccer generally to return to being regular spectators at A-League matches. Helen believes there's at least hundreds of people her age who used to go to soccer a long time ago but now have no club of their own and that UTS Olympic may be the 'home' for all the soccer homeless. Already her show is showing signs of greater popularity judging by the increased numbers of calls for complimentary tickets to UTS Olympic games in recent weeks.

Helen's favourite players at UTS are David "DB" Barrett for his "leadership by example" and engagingly intelligent manner and Kimon "KT" Taliadoros for "his flair" and athletic prowess. She is convinced that UTS Olympic will be finalists this year, subject to injuries and fitness concerns that will worry all clubs over the long thirty three week season.

Helen would be thrilled to hear from UTS supporters with any ideas and certainly encourages supporters to ring on Thursday night to ask questions of her guest players (see details below). Helen is impressed with the energetic approach of UTS Olympic to increasing its supporter base both on and off the field and hopes her programme can contribute to this growing appeal. Helen is rapidly warming to the atmosphere that only a UTS Olympic crowd can generate at Leichhardt Oval (although she has to admit to being one of those who left minutes before Olympic's remarkable comeback against Sydney United.)

So, supporters one and all make a date every Thursday night with Helen and listen to the news about Australian soccer and, most importantly, the mighty UTS Olympic.

Olympic vs Marconi

One of the great by-products of sport is intense, but friendly rivalry. Traditional "enemies" who love nothing better than beating one another, based on deep respect for one another. In cricket it's Australia vs England, while AFL has Carlton & Collingwood, Rugby League has State of Origin, and in Rugby Union it's Wallabies vs All Blacks. Always they are all special contests. So it is in our game when Olympic and Marconi meet. Two great clubs who always manage to find something extra when they come together.

In the 18 seasons of national competition the two clubs have met on 45 occasions with Olympic winning 17 times, Marconi 12 and 16 times the honours have been shared. Remarkably, only one goal separates the two teams, Olympic scoring 60 and Marconi 61. At home Olympic have won 7, drawn 10 and lost 3; while away Olympic still hold an edge winning 7 with 5 draws and 6 losses. Seven finals games have resulted in 3 wins a piece with one draw.

Needless to say, the two clubs have produced some epic encounters including a pair of 8-goal games: 1989 when Olympic won 5-3, and two seasons ago when Marconi triumphed 7-1 (ouch!). This is of course Olympic's worst defeat, and usually finds its way into conversations when rival supporters meet.

However, the two games that stand out are the consecutive grand finals of 1989 and 1989/90. The first took place on August 13 and resulted in a dramatic courageous win for the more experienced Marconi. Down to ten men after Matteo Colucci had been dismissed towards the end of the first half, the game seemed destined for extra time when the season's leading goal scorer, Zlatko Nasteovski slotted home the winner. The crowd was 23,387.

The competition then moved to summer, and seven months later (May 20, 1990) the two teams met again. Marconi was tipped to win its third successive championship emulating the feat of Sydney City in the early 1980s. Olympic had won its way through four finals games to again try and clinch its first championship and this time the underdogs were successful. In front of a record crowd of 26,352 Alistair Edwards and Robbie Ironside were the scorers with Marconi goalless.

It is worth recording the sides in those two games and reflecting upon the magnificent contribution so many of those players have made to Australian soccer.

OLYMPIC: Clint Gosling, David Barrett, Tony Spyridakos, Robbie Hooker, Grant Lee, Gary Phillips, Robert Ironside, Steve Refenes, Abbas Saad, Alistair Edwards Reserves Marco Perinovic, Eric Hristodoulou. Coach Mick Hickman.

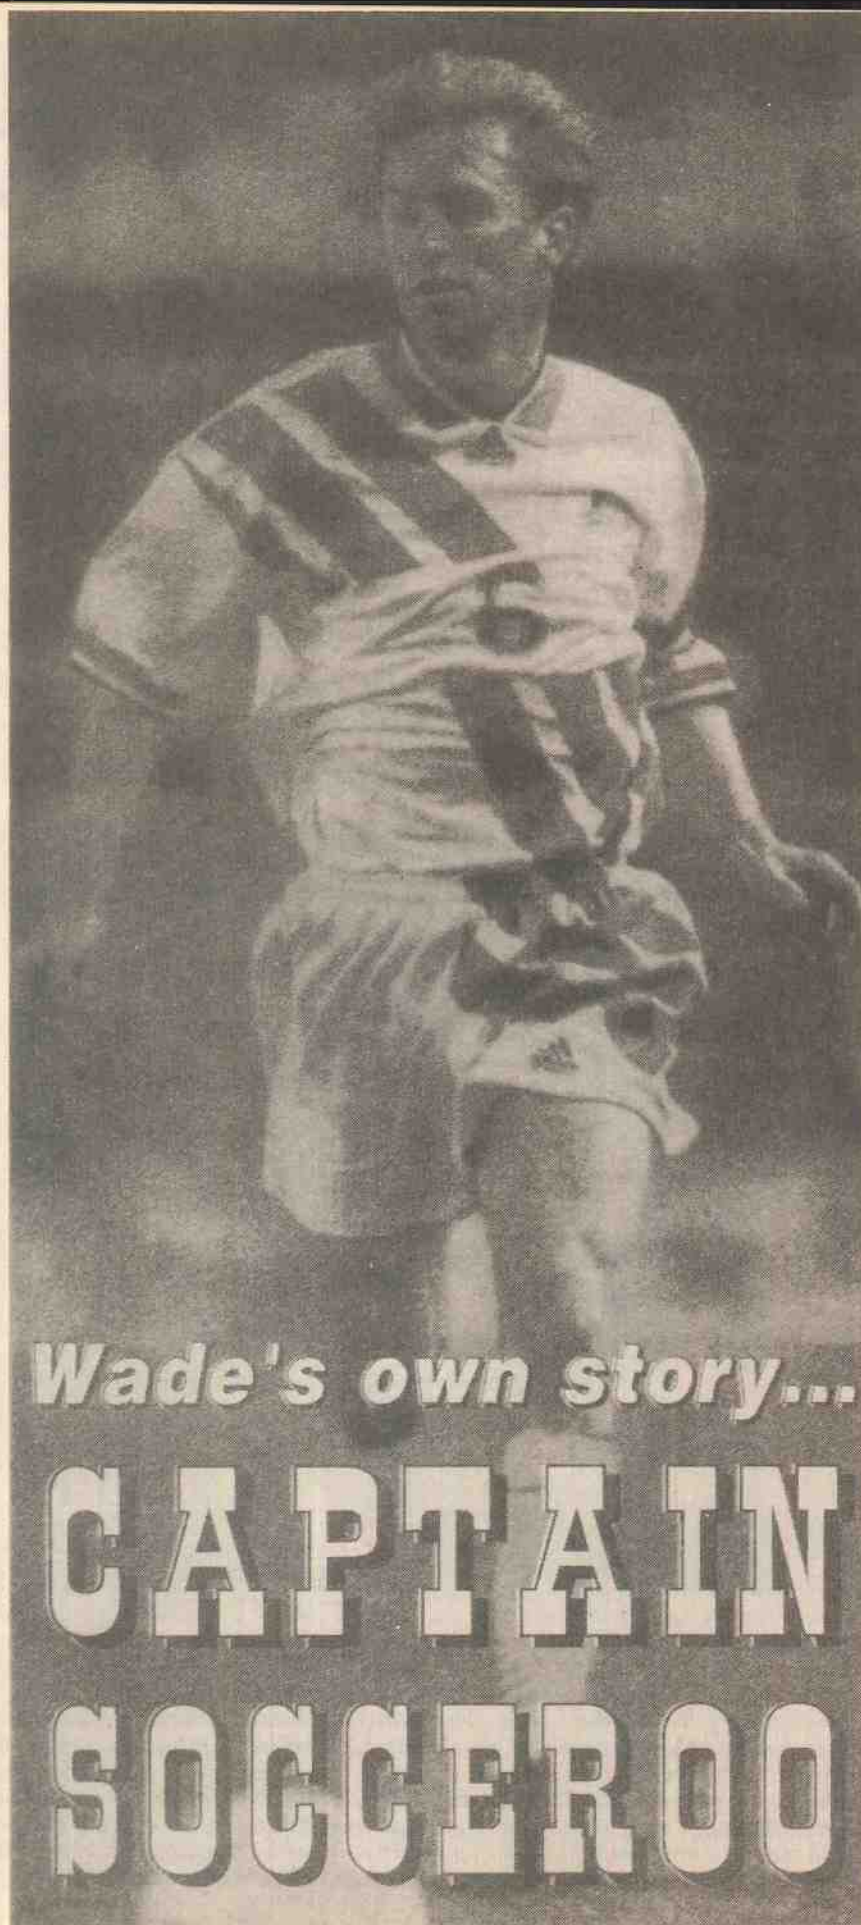

MARCONI: Robert Catlin, Garry van Egmond, Steve Calderan, Robert Wheatley, Jean Paul de Marigny, Gerry Gomez, Ian Gray, Tommy McCulloch, Paul Okon, Fred De Jong, David Lowe. Reserves: Peter Katholos, Vince Colagiuri. Coach Berti Mariani.

Some great players from the recent past just as there are some great players on display tonight. Whatever the outcome tonight, it is certain to be another fascinating episode in this long-running saga between two great clubs who are scheduled to meet at least twice more this season. And who knows, there may even be a fourth meeting next year on June 9.

Kimon Talidoros and Francis Awaritefe exemplify the friendly rivalry that exists between Olympic and Marconi. Best mates of the field, but fierce opponents for 90 minutes, their careers have much in common. Both were born overseas, Kimon in South Africa and Francis in England. Both began their NSL careers in the late 1980s in Melbourne, Kimon with South Melbourne and Francis with the Knights. In 1991-92 Kimon scored 15 goals (as did Olympic's Tom Bredbury) to top the league. The following season Kimon moved to Marconi, and his place at South Melbourne was taken by Francis who went on to lead the goalscorers that season. Finally when Kimon moved to UTS Olympic at the start of this season, the vacancy up front at Marconi was filled by none other than Francis. Both players have proudly worn the Socceroo strip (Kimon - 9, Francis - 2) and the form they are each displaying at the moment must be giving Eddie Thomson food for thought. Both are excellent ambassadors for the game and at the moment they are equal on this season's goalscoring list with four a piece. You can be sure if either of them score tonight they will make certain the other one knows all about it.
